Note from the Founder

Dear Traveler,

I have been fascinated by travel since I was a child. I remember having a World Atlas on a shelf above my bed that I read often before going to sleep, dreaming about one day seeing those amazing cities and the picturesque countryside and roaming around the impressive historical places.

After having had the chance to visit dozens of countries, I decided to dedicate my life in helping fellow travelers find the hidden gems I had found. This is how MyTourBox came to life. We are today one of India's most personalized travel company. We pride ourselves on the depth of knowledge and industry experience of each and every one of our Travel Experts. This, coupled with our direct partnerships and large buying power, ensures that you receive the best value deals tailored to your specific travel needs.

The thought, care and time we invest in making the meticulous arrangements and seamless logistics optimize the pacing and design of your days — This is what sets MTB apart.

“We make your Holidays truly Special”

Food

The pursuit of unique eating and drinking experiences is essential for us, as cuisine is manifestation of culture. Culinary / food tourism is not limited to just gourmet food though and includes street food as well.

We take special care of your requirements, be it trying out local cuisine or enjoying a sumptuous Indian meal

Family

Vacation is a not just a leave of absence from your regular occupation, it is connecting with your spouse and children at a completely immersed level.

So don't wait till tomorrow; let us plan the perfect family getaway for you today

Honeymoon

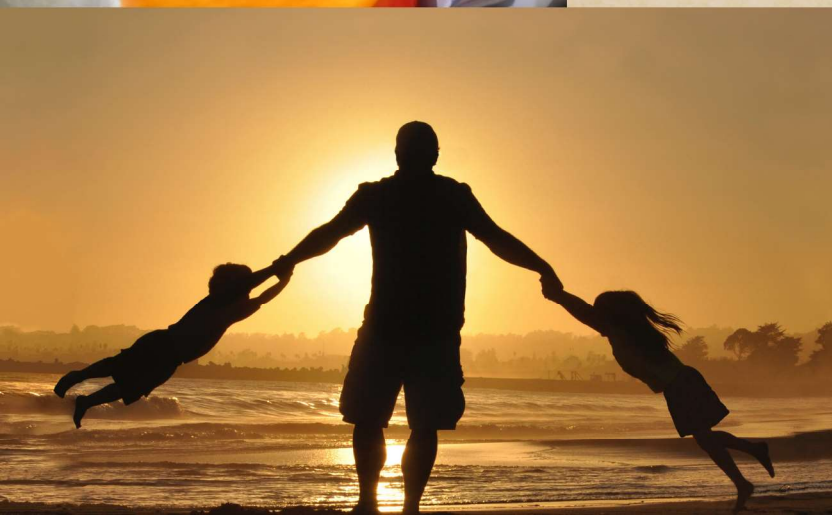

“Honeymoon” originated from a tradition dating back to the 5th century Europe where newlyweds would drink “mead”, a honey-based alcohol, after their “first moon together” as a married couple.

At MyTourBox, we specialize in creating a truly unique, one of a kind experience for your honeymoon designed to be cherished forever

Travel

You might feel like you're stuck in your daily life, or yearning for something exciting and different. Travel pushes you to get outside your comfort zone.

You'll discover how resourceful you are when exposed to new places and people. Maybe it's finding your way around a busy city, or ordering a meal when you don't speak the language

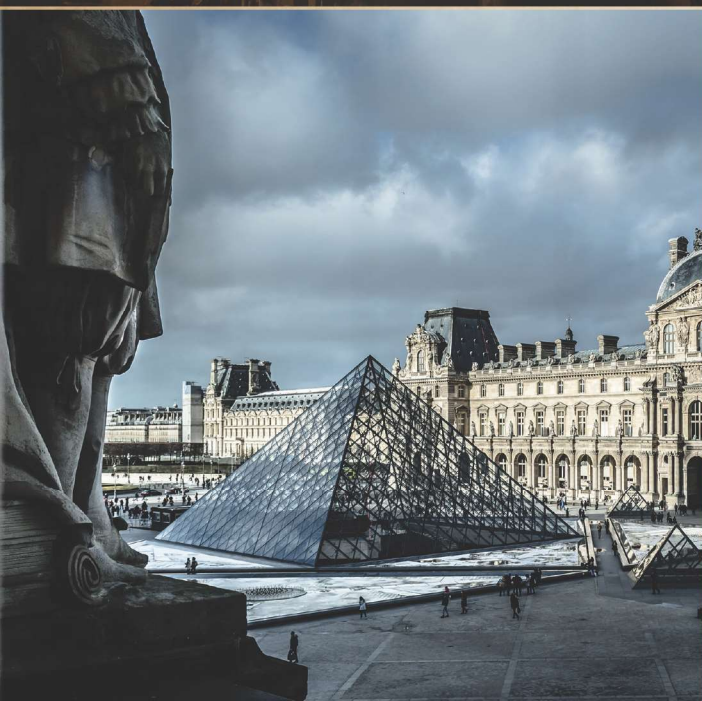

Love : Paris makes you want to grab the person you love and have a long lingering kiss wherever you can, on a street corner, in a cafe on the Metro or under trees in the Jardin du Tuileries. Kissing in public is open season in Paris and we love kissing

The Eiffel Tower – I still feel like saying every time I see it ‘wow, the Eiffel and photograph ourselves in front of it. It inspires people to leave the other side of the world just to stand, sit or run beneath it. We love the Eiffel Tower

The Fashion – It has always been the capital of fashion and though many other cities would like this crown Paris really cares about her couture and about the way they dress

Architecture: Here stone colored buildings and tin roofs have us all in a flap. We love the curly wrought iron, the window boxes and that wonderful stone backdrop wherever you look. We love the symmetry, open spaces the wide boulevards

The Cafes – If it is your first time or one hundredth time sitting down at one of those heavy metal tables, or pushing out a cane chair to rest your weary legs there is no visual like a Parisian cafe. Hats off to every cafe owner who each day allows us to sit in a little bit of our own Parisian film

The list goes on, the patisseries, the shopfronts, the cobbled streets, the quirky shops and the cinemas

The Italian way of life: Italians have certainly mastered the art of living—family first, good food, good conversation, and a good dose of summer sun. There’s a strong work/life balance in Italy and the best of times are enjoyed as a family unit

Scenic Train Journeys: There are many scenic train journeys throughout the Italian countryside, but the most impressive crosses through both Italy and Switzerland – the Bernina Express. The famous ‘red train’ begins in Tirano and makes its way to the international winter destination

Simply Great Food: It should go without saying that the key to anyone’s heart whilst in Italy is food. Pasta and pizza are at the forefront but there’s plenty of other delicious eats to try throughout your stay

The Romance of Tuscany: Tuscany is certainly one of the world’s most romantic regions to visit. With the endless wineries, rolling hills, tuscan villas, the list is endless. Explore the region from there or opt to stay in a villa and rent a car to make your way around the region

The Canals of Venice: They say you should visit Venice at least once in your life and indeed, that is true. Just be sure to save your pennies well and truly in advance and prepare yourself (both mentally and physically) for lots of shoulder banging and waiting in lines. Apparently everyone else also has the same idea as you – visit Venice before it sinks!

London Is World Class: As one of only two Alpha++ World Cities as ranked by the Globalization and World Cities Research Network (no prizes for guessing the other one), London is a world-beater in many regards. Sight-seeing is of course the most obvious example. London's attractions draw in millions of tourists per year, and Central London alone can occupy travelers for days on end. After all, the zigzag on a map that begins near Westminster Abbey and the Houses of Parliament (with its signature clock tower, Big Ben), darts across Westminster Bridge towards the London Eye, and connects to St. Paul's Cathedral via the South Bank, is perhaps the world's most classic tourist trail

London Is International: British culture isn't what London is all about. Instead, people of all nationalities, cultures, and ethnolinguistic backgrounds live, work, and play in London, and thousands more flock there every year to add to the multicultural ranks

London Is Eclectic: There's just so much to do in London. Every city has its attractions, from must-see bucket list items to "off-the-beaten-path" or the "gems". But London is simply on a whole other level. You can spend a year living there and probably see a fraction of what there is to see. We're convinced that even if someone lived in London for years, they'd be hard-pressed to experience everything the city has to offer

It's no secret that we are crazy in love with Amsterdam. Like most cities, Amsterdam is at it's best during summer. There are tons of events, places to sit outside and summer festivals

Those Canals: Yep, that's Amsterdam's little Venice. There's nothing like it and during summer you can't miss out on the many boats floating around the canals of our city. It's very common for a group of friends to hire a boat where everybody brings wine, snacks and music to enjoy the day until the sun goes down. At night you can enjoy the canals as most of them are lit up by romantic lights

It's Foodie Heaven: New York, Bangkok, Los Angeles, Berlin, Paris, London you name it, we've all been there but Amsterdam seriously has some of the best food divided over different areas

Anything Goes: Of course, everyone knows that almost everybody comes here for "forbidden" things, as Amsterdam has a most liberal attitude towards all things naughty: prostitution and soft drugs have been legal here for many centuries. Rather than being a no-go area, Red Light district is buzzing day and night, as people wander through narrow alleys gazing at near-naked women behind back-lit windows or sit in coffeeshops and brown cafes, relaxing

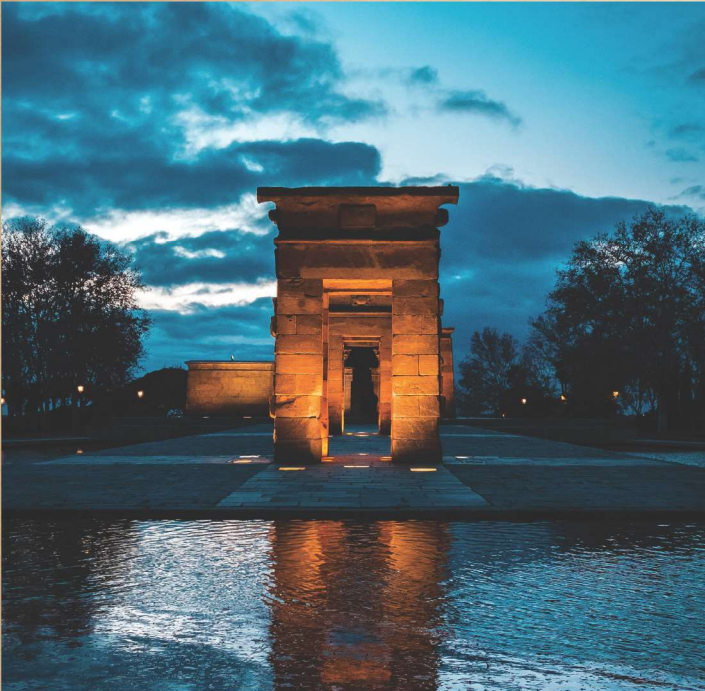

Prague and its beer is known to be among the best in the world. This city is incredibly unique and the best news is that it's still one of the cheapest European cities to visit, allowing travelers to try just about anything they'd like

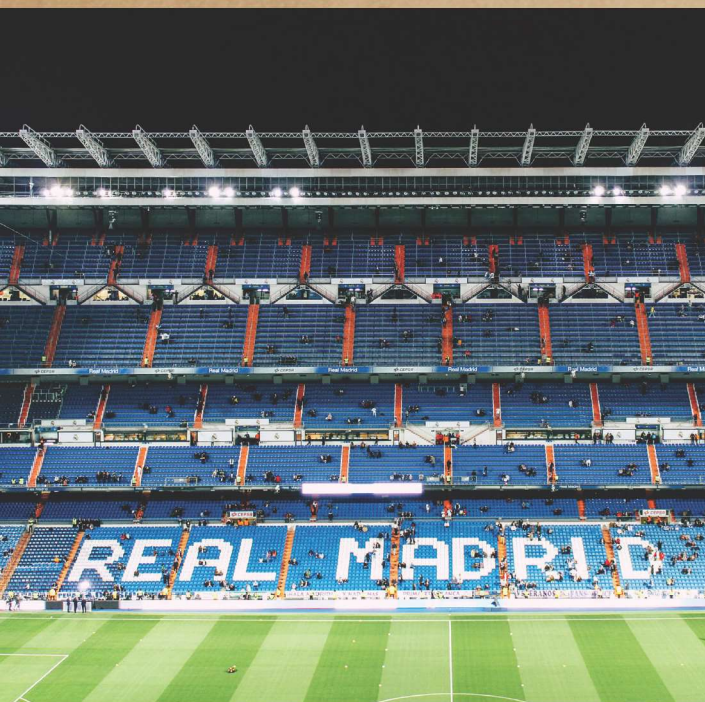

Amazing architecture: Aside from the Palace, the castle includes multiple museums, two churches, the famous Gothic style St. Vitus Cathedral, and numerous defense towers. This affords the city a wondrous advantage over its European counterparts in terms of time-captured beauty

Tasty Adventures: Who can't appreciate that!? It's hard to walk a few blocks without passing a restaurant offering a goulash special. Anyone who goes to Prague will rave about the beer. The phrase "it flows like water" was never truer than in this city. In most places, ordering water is more expensive than the house brew.

Killer Music Scene:

Day in and day out you can hear jazz spilling out of the windows, watch instruments being moved across the streets and see young artists handing out fliers for music shows. Walking the streets inevitably becomes more enjoyable when you have a soundtrack and here you'll be walking to the sound of a violin or the music erupting from church halls

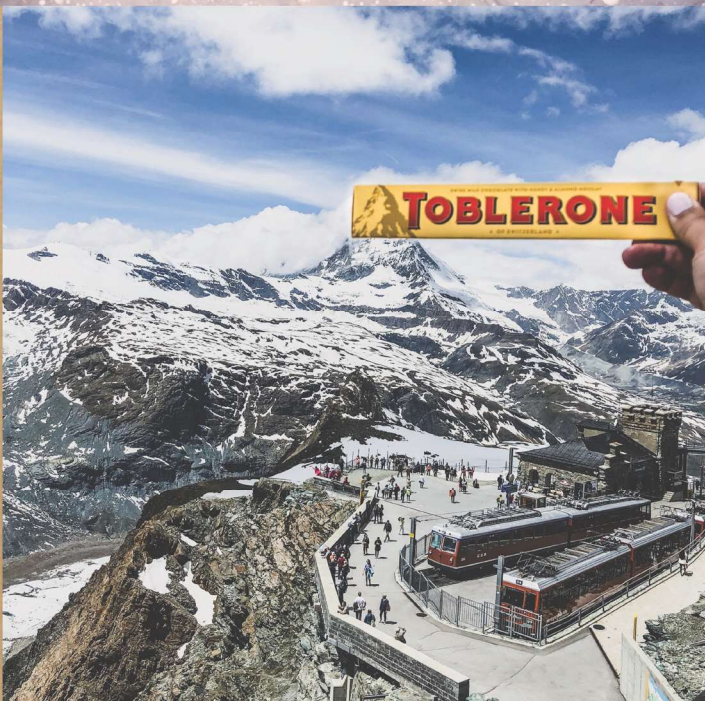

Spain: An intoxicating culture, Mediterranean climate and a landscape dotted with whitewashed villages and medieval towns – Be tempted by its tapas bars and sun-kissed costas while sipping a sherry in Jerez, or gaping at the grandeur of the Alhambra Palace.

A Diverse History: Spain's position, on both the Mediterranean Sea and the Atlantic Ocean and just a stone's throw from Africa, means many cultures have left a lasting legacy here over the centuries.

As you travel this diverse country you'll see evidence of the Phoenicians, Greeks, Romans and Moors, not only in its architecture but in its cuisine and traditions.

Lovely Landscapes: From the wild, beautiful cliffs of the North Atlantic coast to the sun-soaked plains and glorious beaches of the south. Spain's landscape is extraordinary. Take a rail journey with views of the Pyrenees, or peer down 600ft into Ronda's El Tajo Gorge.

The Art of Flamenco: Traditionally the dance of Andalusian gypsies, flamenco is an emotional art form. Its essence is in the song, which can deal with profound emotions like anguish and despair. The men's dance is characterised by toe and heel clicks, while the women, in flirty, swirly polka-dot dresses, also display graceful body and hand movements.

Switzerland is one of the most beautiful places on earth. The country is home to shimmering lakes, picturesque mountains, tiny walled medieval towns, soaring peaks, endless green fields you want to run through, delicious chocolate, beer, and friendly people. The country rocks no matter what time of the year you visit.

Mountains: Alps mountains are probably one of the most beautiful. Many tourists flock to Switzerland each year just to enjoy the Alps. It's hard to miss them as they make up about 65% of Switzerland. The Alps are great for skiing and winter sports.

Chocolate: Almost everyone loves Swiss chocolate, and there's a reason! Swiss chocolate is rich and creamy and simply melts in your mouth.

Music Festivals: If you are looking to take part in a music festival, head over to Switzerland. In fact, every season there is at least one music festival going on. These include the Annual Classical Music Festival, The Rock Oz'Arenes Festival, and the SnowpenAir Festival.

Vienna: Vienna is widely considered to be a cultural haven for music, fine art, and architecture lovers from all over the world. Known for the many diverse architectural styles peppered throughout the city, travelers can expect to find numerous well-preserved examples of Romanesque, Baroque, Classicist, and Art Nouveau styled structures.

“We make your Holidays truly Special”

Experiential Travel

Experiential travel emphasizes different areas of local life – culinary, culture, history, nature or social life and can also be called a holistic travel experience. The goal is to more deeply understand a travel destinations culture, people and history by connecting with it more than just by visiting it. Experiential travel tends to focus on travel that is inspirational, personalized and/ or creates a path to self-discovery

Wellness

Travel for the purpose of promoting health and well-being through physical, psychological, or spiritual activities has become popular over the past decades. Wellness tourists are proactive in seeking to improve health and quality of life, often focusing on prevention

Solo

Traveling alone is not uncommon and most solo travelers meet other travelers during their travels.

A growing trend is women traveling alone, and there are hundreds of tours and retreats that are just for women.

Celebrations

There’s always a happy reason to take a trip. It could be a landmark birthday or anniversary, a graduation, a wedding, even a babymoon.

A special occasion is made even more special by celebrating away from the hectic pace of life at home. It’s also a good way to gather family and friends from distant corners to mark the milestone. Celebration vacations provide a lasting benefit: shared memories for a lifetime.
